Pfeiffer has had some second thoughts. Brooks Clement phoned School Superintendent Stuart Mitchell yesterday to ask if he may talk with the Carmel School Board when they meet October 23.

At the County Committee on School District Organization meeting here last week, Mr. Clement, speaking for down-coast Pfeiffer Elementary School District, said Pfeiffer preferred to unify with Monterey instead of Carmel. (Pfeiffer has to unify with somebody to send their children to high school.) Pfeiffer seemed to think they would have representation on the Monterey Board. County counsel had just ruled that Pfeiffer couldn't join Monterey in a new unified school district because its boundaries and Monterey's are not contiguous, Carmel intervenes. But Pfeiffer and Monterey said they'd work on Senator Farr for special action of the state legislature.

Superintendent Mitchell told Mr. Clement, yes, sure, he'd put it on the agenda.

Water

Monterey Peninsula Central Labor Council has voted to contribute $100 to the campaign for the Monterey Peninsula Municipal Water District proposition which will be on the general election ballot in November.

Carmel City Council passed a resolution last night, four to one, supporting the water district. Gunnar Norberg voted no. He objected to the unlimited taxing powers of the proposed water board, and a mass vote set-up for bond elections in which Carmel's voice would be a squeak against Monterey's and Pacific Grove's roar. There are 13 other possible district formulas that should have been explored, he said. Not enough study had been given.

Councilman Everett May enumerated "protections" against the board's unlimited taxing powers. Their budget has to be approved by the county board of supervisors; there could be a recall election.

City

Councilman Gunnar Norberg and a lot of Carmel citizens who deserve better treatment from their elected representatives got the run-around again last night on the proposed Arts Commission ordinance.

The hitch over whether the arts board should be entirely Carmel residents or just a majority was resolved with a three to two council vote, Knight and May voting no. It looked as though the ordinance, which was kicked back to the committee over the residence issue when it was up for second reading in September, (it's been in the works since May) would get its second reading now. Then Knight raised the objection that the arts commission would be in charge of bookings for the Forest Theater. City attorney and city clerk explained that the arts com-

An interview with Frieda Sahud means a reversal of roles for this still hard-working retired lady, who was a contemporary of Jane Addams in Chicago social work. For a quarter century it was Mrs. Sahud who always asked the questions and someone else who did the answering.

Russian-born Mrs. Sahud, widow of Dr. Moses Sahud of Chicago, helped start kindergartens in the Chicago public schools and later became the first trained social worker in the Jewish Federation there, which at the time was the Jewish Social Service Bureau.

But the larger part of her career in social work she spent in the demanding job of medical social worker for tubercular cases at Mandel Clinic an outpatient division of Michael Reese Hospital.

Unlike her doctor-husband, who concerned himself with a patient's health, Mrs. Sahud was occupied not only with the well-being of the tubercular patient, but his home care and prevention of disease spreading, his family problems, home conditions, financial situation, education and adjustment of children in school. Although her office was at the clinic, she was associated with the Winfield Sanitorium.

It was these professional contributions, anlong with a multitude of worthwhile side activities, that have made Mrs. Sahud a beloved and well-known personality among the Jewish population of Chicago, a position she enjoys to this day.

Born in Simbirsk, in the Volga region near Ural, she was a member of a "first-class merchant" family, a group privileged under Czarist rule so that they did not have to live in one of the many designated ghetto regions.

She came with her mother and sister to New York when she was 14 (but Mrs. Sahud won't say how long ago that was). Later she married the man who taught her English. At that time Dr. Sahud was a young medical student at Columbia University.

After their marriage, the Sahuds separated briefly because of their divergent careers, he going to Denver University to specialize in

Mayor Asks For Quick Action On Point Annexation

Taking the first formal step in the long legal procedure for annexation, Carmel Point property owners petitioned the Carmel City Council last night for permission to circulate a petition for annexation among Point residents.

Taking the second formal step, the Carmel City Council referred it to the Carmel Planning Commission for report or recommendation, which must be made within the next 40 days.

"Hope the planning commission doesn't act with 'deliberate' speed," commented Mayor John Chitwood. He prefaced the remark with, "I'm happy to see that this has been submitted."

The other councilmen made no comment.

The Point letter, signed by Rudolph ver Mehr, Jr., William P. Byrnes, Frances M. Cubbon, Charlotte N. Wight, and George F. Bloomquist, outlined the boundaries of the area interested in annexation: The Pacific shore line on the west, Carmel River mouth on the south, Carmelo Street on the east and Santa Lucia Street on the north.

At the same council meeting the report on the Citizens' Study Committee on Annexation was presented to the council, but not read. It will be duplicated and distributed later, but copies of the "summary report" were available. Amount of assessed valuation of the Point, according to the citizens' subcommittee on revenue, is $1,595,809. At this year's city tax rate of 93 cents, this would raise $14,630. There would be other sources of revenue amounting to about $10,000 City Clerk Larry Rose pointed out. A substantial item would be additional gas tax and liquor license apportionments from the state which are allocated on basis of population.

"The present fire equipment is adequate to handle Carmel and minor, close-in annexation," is the opening statement of the summary report of the annexation study. Considerable cost would be involved in "wholesale annexation"

You Are All Invited To Open House At Carmel Youth Center

Mayor John Chitwood officially opens the ninth annual Open House and eighth birthday party of the Carmel Youth Center tomorrow evening at 8:00 o'clock. All Carmel residents are invited by Youth Center members to attend the festivities which last until 11:00.

The Soldiers' Chorus from Fort Ord, directed by Pfc. John Sundquist, will entertain during the evening. The Tenor Tones band, lead by Al Mendonsa, will play for dancing, through the cooperation of Local 616, American Federation of Musicians, through a grant from the recording industry's trust fund. Refreshments will be served, with a decorated birthday cake, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. John Burdis, having a place of honor among

"What Are You Going To Do When It Rains?" Whitaker Asks Council

By Marjory Lloyd

The city council rode the marches of Carmel on Tuesday afternoon in Councilman James Buffington's station wagon followed closely by the press in another car driven by City Clerk Larry Rose. Officials looked at "nuisance" bushes on the beach, a drainage situation in the bosky canyon at the foot of Torres Street, tree and driveway problems on either side of traffic burdened upper Ocean Avenue, surveyed the surface of Lincoln Street between Fifth and Seventh Avenues, were horrified by an unauthorized power pole at Santa Rita and First Streets and decided to eliminate a black acacia tree on the east side of Dolores Street between Fifth and Sixth Avenues.

This took two and a half hours. Night fell. The air grew cool. The press shivered. The council deferred surveying Santa Fe Street between Fourth and Fifth Avenues. In the darkness they could not see whether this closed thoroughfare should be opened to permit access to property belonging to Walter Murray.

The tour which touched the west, northeast and southeast, and north city limits was the first special meeting of the city council "to consider and act upon matters of business requiring viewing of the physical circumstances involved." They formally convened at the city hall at the start of the tour, then adjourned, and reconvened and adjourned at each of the seven stops with Larry Rose recording all decisions.

Expedition members first stopped on Scenic Avenue near Eighth Street, single filed through Colonel John J. Gahan's front and back gardens, and through a gate in a barbed wire fence on to the beach. Two sunbathers, one paddler and six strollers paid no attention to the city dignitaries as they surveyed and explored a clump of low-growing acacia trees.

"I want all of them out in front of my property," said Colonel Gahan when he joined the group.

He was showing how one offending tree spread along the beach when, "That tree is on Colonel Gahan's property," said Colonel Philip Schneeberger who appeared quietly through the bushes from next door. "Cut it down, then," said Mayor Chitwood to Colonel Gahan and turned his attention to city-owned acacias.

Colonel Schneeberger protested any ruthless removal of the bushes which keep the wind from covering his back garden with sand. He explained that 15 years ago the sanitary district, at his request, had to replace the dune on which the trees grow, because sand drifts threatened his property. He did not know whether "thinning" would provide "a better or worse

LOW MASS OF REQUIEM FOR POPE PIUS XII

Low Mass of Requiem for the late Pope Pius XII will be celebrated in Carmel Mission by the Most Reverend Harry A. Clinch, Auxiliary Bishop of Monterey-Fresno diocese and pastor of Carmel Mission, at 5:00 o'clock on Friday evening.

The Mass at this time was originally planned to open the Serra International Convention meeting in Monterey, but will now be said as a Memorial Mass for the late Pius XII, attended by the delegates and the general public.

Assisting Bishop Clinch will be the Reverend James Voytko of Carmel Mission, master of ceremonies, and the Reverend Richard Cutler of Monterey and the Reverend John McSweeney of Carmel Mission, chaplains. Clergy of the area will be in attendance in the Sanctuary.

Further ceremonies, to be announced later, will take place at Carmel Mission on the day selected for the interment of the deceased Pontiff.

SAN LORENZO COUGARS AT CARMEL THIS SATURDAY

Coach Wayne Richards, former College of Pacific grid great, brings his San Lorenzo Valley High football squads to Carmel High this Saturday afternoon for the first league football tussle between the two schools. San Lorenzo is competing in regular league football play for the first time this season and is now a full fledged member of the CCAL B-division. The Cougars free lanced for the last three years and had so much success against the B-division teams that it was inevitable they would soon be in the league. Coach Richards has a hard-hitting aggregation going for him at San Lorenzo this year and the Cougars will be a tough hurdle for the other members of the league. In Randy Ward, a 6-2 180-pound halfback, the Cougars boast the best running back in the B-division and many coaches rate him the best in the entire CCAL. Ward receives admirable support from quarterback Gary Chandler, fullback Jim Norwood, and halfback Larry Allen.

Carmel will attempt to counter Richard's Ramblers with an offensive unit of Phil White and Andrew Elliott, ends; Chris Wilkin and Sam Farr, tackles; Deen Rowe, Mike Marquard, and Tom Stanford, guards; Dave Vincent, center; Craig Smith, quarterback; Dennis Peavey and Ron Faia, halfbacks; and Dare Conroy, fullback. On defense, the Padres will go with Phil White and Cim Conway, ends; Norman Colman and John Wilkin, tackles; Tom Stanford and Harrison Hilbert, guards; Gary Preece and Steve Gann, linebackers; Russ Wise and Dennis Peavey, halfbacks; and Craig Smith, safety.

In a 12:00 o'clock preliminary game, the Cougar Cubs will square off against Fred Rainer's Little Padres in a junior-varsity fracas. Both jayvee squads are manned primarily by freshmen and sophomores so the ball should do a lot of moving around in one way or another. The Carmel jayvee nifty passing attack engineered by quarterback Frank Mayo to Doyle Clayton, Pat Boyle, and Mike Draper should give the Cougar Cubs an interesting afternoon.

CARMEL HIGH RACKET SQUAD CLIPS WATSONVILLE

Carmel High's surging tennis team put together their best game of the season Saturday morning to upset the favored Watsonville Wildcats, 5 to 2, in a CCAL match at the local courts. Top performance for the Padres was turned in by Vitya Chahrabandhu, diminutive freshman racket-wielder, who outstroked Roland Hedgpeth, 6-1, 6-3, to clinch the win for the Carmel team.

In singles play, Pete Hanson, playing number one for Carmel, defeated Ron Batchelder, 5-7, 8-6, and 6-2. Mike Lopes, Watsonville, defeated Dyer Drake, 6-1, 6-1. Frank Wallace, Carmel, defeated Randy Bogisich, 6-4, 7-5. Jeff Bannister, Carmel, won from Dave Compton, 6-8, 10-8, and 6-4, and Vitya won from Hedgpeth. Doubles action saw Batchelder and Lopes, Watsonville, defeat Hanson and Drake while Wallace and Chahrabandhu outsteadied Bogisich and Compton of Watsonville. In a practice match Carmel's Jim McGowan clipped Herman Radloff, 6-2, 6-2.

PADRE GRIDDERS WIN PAIR FROM KING CITY

Carmel High's varsity and junior varsity football squads opened the 1958 season at Bardarson Field last Saturday afternoon, posting a double win over the rugged King City Mustang elevens. Coach Fred Rainer's scrappy junior-varsity crew clipped the Ponies, 12 to 6, as Fred Bucher and Mike Draper hit paydirt for the Little Padres. The red-clad Padre varsity ground out a 12-0 win over a big King City team which gave ground grudgingly and were in close contention all the way. Dennis Peavey and Craig Smith racked up touchdowns for the Padres and both played outstanding defensive games.

Saturday's season-opener was a typical prep school lid-lifter with plenty of mistakes, muffs, and mental miscues. The Padres got on the board in the first quarter as Dare Conroy set up a touchdown with wide sweeps around the Mustang flanks. Dennis Peavey rambled the last 11 yards for the score, driving around the King City left end for the opening touchdown of the 1958 season. Carmel had several other scoring chances in the first half but fumbles and intercepted passes thwarted the other scoring drives. Carmel's stalwart defensive unit turned in a superlative job, holding the visitors to a net of 32 yards on the ground and in the air. Led by Norman Colman, a 240- pound tackle, the Padre forward wall solved the hard-hitting King City single-wing attack and kept the visitors outside the 40-yard line for most of the game. The closest the Mustangs came to the Padre goal line was the 17-yard stripe in the third quarter but Russ Wise stymied the KC threat by intercepting a pass and rambling 87 yards for an apparent Carmel touchdown. However, a clipping penalty set the Padres back to midfield from where they eventually drove to their second touchdown. With Craig Smith, Ron Faia, Dennis Peavey, and Dare Conroy providing the legwork, Carmel moved 58 yards in 12 plays to put the clinching touchdown on the scoreboard. Craig Smith used the quarterback sneak to go the last yard for the six-pointer.

Carmel's stubborn defensive unit which was so instrumental in posting the season's first victory was manned by Bill Hicks, Andy Elliott, and Phil White, ends; Norman Colman and John Wilkin, guards; Al Eaker, Tom Stanford, Harrison Hilbert, and Van Treat, guards; Steve Gann and Larry Dufur, linebackers; Dennis and Russ Wise, halfbacks; and Craig Smith, safety. These boys countered the unfamiliar single-wing attack with savage tackling and agile pursuit to completely shackle the swift Mustang backs. Larry Dufur, operating from the left linebacker position, made eight clean tackles to lead his mates in this department. Steve Gann, Dufur's linebacking partner, accounted for six tackles and did a clever job on pass defense. Alert pass defense on the part of Craig Smith, Russ Wise, and Dennis Peavey blanketed the Mustang air arm and allowed the Padres to make good on three intertceptions. Wise picked off two KC passes while Dennis Peavey gathered in the third. Smith made a pair of touchdown saves by batting down long aerials at the last second.

The Little Padres showed the varsity the way to the victory trail in the 12:00 o'clock preliminary fuss by outplaying the big Pony squad for a 12-7 win. The smaller but harder hitting Carmel lads took over the game control at the outset of the game and remained on top all the way. Mike Draper got the Little Padres on the board

American Motors Adds New Economy Wagon

A new two-door station wagon has been added to the 1959 Rambler American series, due to public demand for such a vehicle. The 100-inch wheelbase five-passenger wagon is an addition to the two-door Rambler American sedan introduced in 1958. Both the station wagon and the sedan provide numerous consumer benefits, according to American Motors, including low purchase price, top operating economy, handling ease, ease of parking and outstanding maneuverability. Both models, powered by an economical six-cylinder L-head engine developing 90 horsepower, will go on sale at Rambler dealerships on October 8. American bodies are dipped in a rust-preventing primer during manufacturing for longer car life.

Frieda Sahud Gave 25 Years To Social Service In Chicago

dietetics and she to Nashville, to acquire a degree in kindergarten work.

Reunited after their studies, they returned to Chicago where she first did the kindergarten organizational work and then attended the Civic School of Philanthropy, organized by Miss Addams and later taken over by the University of Chicago.

Twenty-two of her 25 years in social work were spent with tubercular cases. Her facility in the Russian language, she recalls, stood her in good stead prior to World War I, when she had to talk to the recently arrived Russian, Polish and Czech immigrants whom she met in connection with her work.

Substandard living conditions, ignorance and carelessness are the arch foes of the medical social worker, according to Mrs. Sahud. She said that tuberculosis decreased in Chicago for a time, but now is on the incresas again, along with syphilis, as new migrants flood the industrial city on Lake Michigan.

Dr. Sahud, who died eight years ago, and his wife were parents of two sons. One of them, William, was financial editor of the Chicgao American during the newspaper era of the young Ben Hecht, whom the Sahuds knew. William is now advertising representative for all foreign-language papers in Chicago. Mrs. Sahud also has two grandchildren, children of the other son, who died.

Since her retirement, Mrs. Sahud has done volunteer work in the Hyde Park district of Chicago's South Side. Once a neighborhood of magnificent old mansions, the area is now one of gross inequities in housing costs and conditions among the minority groups who live there, according to Mrs. Sahud.

She said five to seven people living in one room is a common situation there, with rent differentials of $15 per week per room for Negro families, $7 for white.

In an effort to help the plight of the groups there, which also included Nisei and German elements, Mrs. Sahud said she first joined the Hyde Park Kenwood Community Conference, which was ostensibly for modern, clean, interracial housing. After two years, however, she disassociated herself from this group when she found they had allowed rents for single rooms to soar to $30 and $40.

Mrs. Sahud is also busy with the American Friends' Service Committee doing office work in the interest of peace and the outlaw of the atomic bomb. The group also helps with integration of Negroes and Japanese in the neighborhood.

Another of her interests is the Chicago Citizens School Committee which, she says, seeks better sanitation and lighting in public schools.

Along more social lines, she is a member of the Hyde Park Citizens Group for senior citizens which presents lectures, crafts and travelogues to the members, many of them retired professional people like herself.

But perhaps her most continuous work is done for the Council of Jewish Women, a national organization which promotes interchange of students of social work, teaching, nursing and allied fields, maintains a camp for underprivileged children and mothers and aids problem children and diabetic patients.

In addition to helping in the council's office, Mrs. Sahud, who once taught needlepoint and embroidery at Henry Srreet Settlement in New York City, turns out a spectacular number of handknit sweaters for the group's overseas clothing project. (48 two years ago, 44 the next year, and so far 20 this year, four of them done on the way to Monterey from Chicago.)

And she's an old hand at travelling. She has been in all the states, Mexico and Havana, partly to observe social work systems in other places and carry suggestions home to Chicago.

While on the Peninsula, she has been the house guest of Miss Eleanor Shlifer, formerly of Carmel, and now of 660 Madison St., Monterey.

Mrs. Sahud says she plans to remain here for several more days, and is interested in meeting retired social workers living in the Carmel area.

in the second quarter as he galloped 14 yards after taking a quick pitch from quarterback Frank Mayo. Little Mike did a fine job all afternoon and was easily the outstanding back in the game. Fred Bucher, versatile guard-fullback, intercepted a pass in the third quarter, and powered 50 yards for the second jayvee score. King City got on the board in the third quarter after intercepting a Padre to forward and winding up on Carmel's one-yard line. Fullback Ernie Primental hit the middle and picked up the one yard good for a touchdown.

The Little Padres were tough up front with Paul Rice, Fred Bucher, Brian LeNeve, Toby Edson, Nick Molitor, and Frank Preve leading the charge. John Draper, Mike Draper, and Frank Mayo set up a good aerial umbrella which put a stopper on the usually strong Pony passing attack.

CLEAT MARKS

If early season games are any indication of team strength, the Coast Counties area may be harboring two of the best junior college teams in the state. Hartnell College of Salinas has trampled three opponents and has scored better than 40 points in each game while Monterey Peninsula College has been successful on two occasions, whipping the College of Sequoias, 22 to 8, and routing a weak Ventura JC club, 36 to 6. So strong has been the play of both the Panthers and the Lobos that reserve players have done most of the playing in all the games. Should be a dandy on Thanksgiving Day when Hartnell hosts the Lobos at the Salinas Stadium . . . Claude Crabb, brilliant MPC quarterback, turned in a dazzling 96-yard run against Ventura JC Saturday night to show why he was picked as Northern California's top quarterback. The slender signal-caller has a deceptive change-of-pace and can move as fast laterally as he can straight ahead. Crabb also showed an aptitude for the long pass by pitching on 45 yards to the flying Larry Guilford good for six points. . . . Students of defensive football are amazed at the mobility of Joe Mason, MPC's stubby guard, who was an all-leaguer for the Padres last season. This husky Carmel lad covers both sides of the middle-guard spot and roams out as far as the ends to make yardage-saving tackles. Small as far as junior college linemen go, the agile Mason gets the job done by being in the right place at the right time . . . Fans at the Carmel-King City game last Saturday afternoon are willing to believe that the foot is going out of football. In the junior-varsity game, the Little Padres punted just once and in the varsity tilt, the Big Padres were forced into punt-formation one time. Ironically, both the jayvees and varsity teams have excellent punters this season. Jamie Holman, varsity kicking expert, is capable of giving the football rides of better than 70 yards while Dave Hanson is consistently around the 50 yard mark . . . Larry Seimering's Santa Cruz High powerhouse handed the Berkeley Yellowjackets a 36-7 whipping at Santa Cruz last Friday night and took over as the outstanding high school team in Northern California.

Chest Director Critical Of Carmel Business District

By Brayton Witherell,
Community Chest Director

The Monterey Peninsula Community Chest Drive for 1959 is still rolling steadily though not spectacularly along toward its goal and at the time of going to press showed a total of $42,777.16 (37% of the total civilian goal total) already collected. Some areas have been unusually slow in reporting while others have moved forward with alacrity. A large number of new subscribers have been added to the list of donors.

Carmel has raised 43% of its Community Chest goal of $32,500 which is an excellent record. However the increase is coming from the residential area. In the business area a corresponding increase is not noticeable. This is especially surprising to Chest officials who expected the business area would increase materially because of the inclusion of the Salvation Army and the Carmel Youth Center, both of whom would be conducting separate drives if they had not been brought beneath the Chest umbrella for 1959.

The Carmel Youth Center receives $8,000 from the Community Chest. Ordinarily this amount would be raised by separate campaign by the students of the high school.

At the present time Carmel residential area under the chairmanship of Mrs. James C. Glaser Jr. has collected 50% of the $24,250 goal and the business area has collected 30% of the $8,250 goal. Chairman Walter Pilot of the business area stated that his volunteer workers have been handicapped by the continued good business being enjoyed by the Carmel merchants but that he feels the gifts will be up in ratio with business increase, when the merchants get time to make their donations.

There are still many successful merchants on the Peninsula, said Chest officials, who do not appreciate the part played by the Chest agencies in the life of the community and give only "token" contributions although well able to support the Chest to a greater extent.

Town Topics . . .

Dogs still stop traffic in Carmel. One afternoon this week a tiny terrier crossed against the red light at the intersection of Highway 1 and Ocean Avenue as north and southbound cars lined up while he strolled his carefree way. Tuesday morning outside Sunset School cars stopped and detoured while a black somewhat-cocker pup unwrapped and ate a lunch at the intersection of Eighth and San Carlos. Whose lunch we don't know!

Carmel cats have their traffic moments, too. A fluffy brown kitten gamboled across upper Torres Street on Tuesday evening at dusk stopping two cars, the first containing the city council and street superintendent, the second the city clerk and press. Kitty didn't realize she was delaying the first special roadside tree meeting of the council.

A florist's delivery boy left a box of chrysanthemums at the wrong house on Thursday evening. The recipient telephoned and said she was not Chase Drake. "Enjoy the flowers," said the florist and next morning sent Mrs. Drake another box at the right address.

Pat on the back this week goes to Louis Armstrong for keeping over six thousand people happy for over an hour. Last Friday night he quietly bounced backstage at the Jazz Festival, greeted Dizzy Gillespie, smiled at everyone and went on stage. His gravelly grinning singing, joyous tooting, and humorous earthy remarks were charming. Equally charming was the way he moved into the background when any other member of his group took center stage. Satchmo seemed a little tired when he left the arena, and why shouldn't he have been? He'd seen that everyone got their money's worth while he was on stage. A real top-notcher!

Any simulated atom blasts at Fort Ord from now on will be produced by the creation of two 1st Brigade soldiers, Sergeants David M. Williams and Philip Jornigan. The new concept in atomic simulators is a 300-gram neoprene balloon filled with acetylene gas manufactured by mixing carbide and water in an improvised generator. Five of the balloons in a semi-circle, set off electrically, produce the "atomic" effect. Previously the Army used 55 gallon drums, instead of the balloons.

Other news from Fort Ord: 80,000 servicemen will be awarded special proficiency pay of $30 a month during Fiscal Year 1959. Of these, 29,000 will be Army personnel. "The incentive pay is designed to improve retention of specially proficient enlisted personnel, primarily in critical skills." We'll let you figure that out with only one hint, electronics technicians are eligible.

More Fort Ord News; Chicago Cubs hurlers Richard F. Drett and Glen W. Hobbie and St Louis Cardinals centerfielder Curt Flood are in training at Ord for six months, planning to return to baseball in February.

BACKSTAGE ASSISTANTS WANTED FOR CIRCLE THEATRE

The Golden Bough Circle Theatre has issued a call this week for backstage assistance. People of any age, with or without experience, are invited to get in touch with the director, Frederick Rider, if they are interested in stage management, lighting, properties, or any other aspect of theatrical work.

Rehearsals are now in progress for a new play which will open on October 31. The director may be reached at the theatre on Casanova Street evenings after 8:00 o'clock and on Saturday or Sunday afternoon.

Marin Guarded Against Giving Water Board Unlimited Tax Powers

Protection of property values in Carmel requires constant vigilance against new taxing agencies such as the proposed Monterey Peninsula Municipal Water District, Corum Jackson, local realtor said yesterday. Jackson is Carmel chairman of the Truth About Water Committee which is fighting formation of the water district.

"The water district scheme proposes use of the 1911 water district law which permits the directors to exercise unlimited taxing power and to operate without a statutory debt limit," Jackson said.

"We have fought long and hard to preserve Carmel's individual character and part of that fight has been against taxation of Carmel property for projects which do not benefit Carmel."

Jackson pointed that the position of Carmel in the mammoth water district which would be controlled by other cities would be similar to the school situation when Carmel was in the Monterey high school district.

"Local control better suits Carmel's interests and there is no local control in the proposed water district. Carmel would be outvoted 4 to 1 on the board of directors," Jackson said.

He said that district proponents were pointing to the Marin Municipal Water District as a model to be followed.

"What they neglect to say is that Marin voters insisted on a special statute for their district which took the taxing power away from the directors," Jackson said. "The Marin district was not formed under the 1911 act which is being used here and which permits the directors to exercise unlimited taxing powers. If the 1911 law is so good why did Marin residents refuse to use it, only a year later in 1912. Yet this fact has been reported in a local daily newspaper."

"I have asked our local representatives in the state legislature to give me their ideas on a special law for this area which would provide for some local control over the water operation," Jackson continued. "We also would not feel safe in creating a district unless the taxing power were eliminated, as in the Marin district."

SILVER JEWELRY IN GUILD SHOW CASE

Mrs. Adeline M. Simank's silver work, on exhibit during October in the Carmel Crafts Guild case at Harrison Memorial Library, will be changed each week in order to show the different types of individually designed pieces to best advantage. This week's selection features a silver locket inspired by the cut work designs on Japanese sword guards, the pattern reflected on a copper backing. It also includes pins, pendant, and a ring.

Mrs. Simank, who works in the shop just off her kitchen specially built for her in the Simank's new home in Rancho Rio Vista, says that the only way she can keep from being completely oblivious of time when she is busy at her hobby is to set the alarm on the stove.

Having been head of the Household Arts Department at Oklahoma State University, she has always been interested in crafts and design appropriate to different media, and especially to silver.

Mrs. Simank has lived on the Peninsula for four years, first in Carmel Valley, and for the last year in Rancho Rio Vista, during which time she has been a member of the Carmel Crafts Guild.

Frances Hobson

Mrs. Frances Bingham Hobson, wife of Brigadier General William H. Hobson, (USA ret.), died on Sunday in her home in Pebble Beach after an extended illness.

Mrs. Hobson was born in Chicago, Illinois, on November 13, 1889 and grew up in St. Paul, Minnesota. She was married in 1913 to General Hobson, then a lieutenant, one year after he graduated from West Point. Mrs. Hobson came here to live 12 years ago, at the end of World War II, when her husband retired from active duty after being commanding general of Fort Benning, Georgia, from 1943-46.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Hobson is survived by a daughter, Miss Mary Josephine Hobson of Pebble Beach and San Francisco.

Private interment took place yesterday in the National Cemetery at the Presidio of San Francisco following Requiem Mass on Tuesday at St. Angela's Roman Catholic Church in Pacific Grove.

The California Public Utilities Commission reports gas and electric costs in America's leading cities. Compared with the average for the cities outside California, P.G. and E. customers save 27¢ on the dollar.

And here's more good proof you're getting a bargain. In the chart at right you'll find the gas and electricity you use today cost even less than they would at 1936 rates! Why not let this low-cost energy do more of your work, save you time, add to the pleasure of living in beautiful California!

YES, THE WATER DISTRICT SCHEME MEANS UNLIMITED TAXING POWER

We already have 91 separate agencies in Monterey County with the power to tax us. Now comes the threat of another with UNLIMITED POWER TO TAX. It's this Monterey Peninsula Municipal Water District scheme which is up for a vote on November 4. The promoters want to take over the water systems here by "condemnation" and run your water supply under political control no matter how much it costs. Any district with unlimited power to tax is going to use the power.

HERE'S WHAT CAN HAPPEN TO YOU

NEW PROPERTY TAXES to pay for endless "studies" and "surveys" and to foot the bill for a legal fight that may go on for years.

MORE BONDS that we can even guess at now to pay for the water systems. Certainly more than $12,200,000 and perhaps as much as 18 million plus at least another 12 million in interest before bonds are paid off.

HIGHER WATER RATES because the revenue at present rates will not pay off a big enough bond issue to cover the cost of the systems at a condemnation price.

DON'T TAKE A CHANCE PLAY SAFE!

VOTE NO ON WATER DISTRICT NOV. 4

THE QUILTING PARTY

Once assembled,
the laughing women
held their empty needles (and their absent friends) up against the light, stabbing at elusive holes to pierce them through with colored yarns sharp-pointed by the busy tongues.

Beneath the prickling onslaught of community busyness with narrative thread and tangled yarn, patterns miraculously emerged:

And the dimpled surfaces of finished quilts (like the lives of all within tongue-reach) were revealed to be close-stitched, interlocked, interlaced,
and brilliantly embellished.

—WILLIAM SIDEN.

CRYING CHILD

For three days now a little girl,
Crying, has walked along our street,
Rosy of cheek, golden of curl,
And daintily groomed from head to feet.

A child cries easily, I know,
For a broken toy or withheld smile,
But when one is so full of woe
It trudges half a rural mile,

Sobbing aloud, for three straight days,
Past lawn and window, hedge and door,
Some grief must darken its small ways
That elves and angels would deplore.

—LORI PETRI.

RECONCILIATION

Not one shadow
stilled the sapphire social moment, not one undulating sigh darkened lit words that smiled forgiveness and cliché forgetmenots.
Yet pacing every word
a vaccuum was reaching raucously to shout, to utter indigo, to whimper clouds, to bellow emptiness.
So, after tea,
two elements that could not merge,
each in its separate self drew distant, till pretense dissolved in a deluge of indifference.

Russian Teachers Have To Produce, Carmel Rotary Told

Tom Turner, Superintendent of Schools in Pacific Grove, who has recently returned from Russia where he made a study of the Russian educational system, told Carmel Rotarians last week that Russian teachers are well paid but must produce good students to keep their jobs. Lack of a disciplinary problem helps.

The Russian kindergarten is available to all families and is virtually a necessity, as most women have to work, he said. The program lasts 12 hours a day, six days a week and is closely supervised. This solves the disciplinary problem of Russian children at an early age, he added.

The 10 year school starts when the child is age seven and is available to about forty percent of the population. Under this program the first four years are devoted to the three R's, the fifth through seventh years are strictly academic—algebra, foreign language, history and the like. At the end of the seventh year, those who pass rigid examinations are allowed to go on; those who fail go to work doing common labor.

Russian school teachers are more highly paid than their doctors, but they retain their jobs only on a merit basis. If they produce good students they are rewarded; if they do not they are removed. They do not accept the idea that the child can not learn; they remain with the child until he does learn.

Summarizing, Mr. Turner said that the motivation in this system is terrific; that the interest of the parents is keen; that the lack of a disciplinary problem is a great help; and that most of all the high status of the teachers makes the program a real success.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon at Christian Science Services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon is this Golden Text: "Salvation belongeth unto the Lord: thy blessing is upon thy people" (Psalms 3:8).

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (206:26-28): "Instead of God sending sickness and death, He destroys them, and brings to light immortality."

From the King James Version of the Bible the following will be read: "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind" (11 Timothy 1:7).

Carmel Boy Scouts To Distribute C. D. Booklet On Saturday

Carmel Boy Scouts will co-operate with the Boy Scouts throughout the nation Saturday in distributing door to door the Civil Defense Handbook for Emergencies. The booklet contains instructions for preparations householders should take for protection in case of nuclear attack or natural disaster.

Carmel City Councilman Everett May, commissioner of health and safety, urges Carmel citizens to give the booklet thoughtful attention.

"During the years I've been associated with Civilian Defense Activities I've found that the key to success has been public support. The handbook for emergencies which the Boy Scouts will distribute this Saturday will give each family and home owner the information necessary to participate in the survival plan.

"In the Carmel area we are especially concerned with the hazards of forest fire, flood and earthquake."

Carmel Volunteers Outline Rules For Escaping Home Fires

"Escape routes planned in advance can save the lives of your family if fire strikes your home, according to Fire Chief Robert Smith, speaking for the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department, in a special Fire Prevention Week recommendation.

"Preplanning for fire emergencies," says Chief Smith, "would save 85 percent of the lives lost annually in home fires. And home fires take about 6,000 lives each year, National Fire Protection Association records show."

He recommends that all families follow these rules to avoid being trapped in their homes by fire:

Plan at least two ways to get out of every room in the house.

Make exit plans for every member of the family, day and night, and rehearse them regularly until everyone—even the youngest children—understands clearly and can move through the plan swiftly and smoothly.

Keep exit routes clear. Avoid placing stoves, space heaters, and furnaces near doors. Fire could start in one of these and block all escape. Make sure bedroom windows are large enough and low enough to serve as emergency exits.

Be sure you know how to notify your fire department quickly and correctly.

BOOKLOVERS MEETING

The Booklovers will meet at Town House Monday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. The program will be given over to appropriate quotations about October or Autumn. A selection of poems by the late Harry Praeger will be read by Miss Helen Baldwin. Mr. Praeger was an unassuming lover of nature; his poems have the beauty of simplicity and deeply religious feeling. All are welcome to this meeting, and asked to bring a favorite quotation.

On Wednesday at 3:00 o'clock, Mr. L. C. Deck will present moving pictures, African Rhythms, Significant years, and a comedy. The program will be followed by a social hour with tea.

Paintings of Royal Stowell will be on exhibit during the month of October.

John Stewart And Bride Home

Monday evening John Stewart and his wife Anne arrived in Carmel. They drove across the country from New York where John was discharged from the Army after two years' service, the last 14 months in France. John and Anne are now visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hampton Stewart Jr., the former's parents, in Pebble Beach. John has been away from home for a year and ten months. Anne was here several weeks ago and was introduced at that time to Mrs. Stewart's friends at a tea. She preceded her husband home to be present at her sister's wedding in Southern California, then flew East to meet John and return here with him. John and Anne were married in France a year ago.

Gray In Pre-wedding Whirl

Gray Burnham, daughter of Mrs. A. Carol McKenney, has set November 15 as the date of her wedding to George Hynes Jr. of San Francisco. The ceremony will be in Carmel Mission with the reception following at the home of Dr. and Mrs. McKenney in Pebble Beach.

Robin Burnham will attend her sister as maid of honor, and bridesmaids will be Mrs. Stewart Engs of Washington, D.C., Jane Mills of San Francisco and Wendy Burnham, Gray's younger sister. Jane Mills arrived here yesterday, and Mrs. Engs (Sue Adams) is expected in a few days.

On October 18 Gray will be the guest of honor at a cocktail party which her father, Dr. Clark Burnham, and Mrs. Burnham are giving in Piedmont. The following week end, on October 25, she will attend another party in her honor in San Francisco to be given by Dr. and Mrs. Basil Allaire (Leigh McKenney).

Gray's fiance is the son of Mrs. George Hynes Sr. of San Francisco and the late Mr. Hynes. His sister is Mrs. Henry Fulton. After their marriage, he and Gray will live in San Francisco where Mr. Hynes is employed in the creative design department of the Fiberboard Paper Company.

MPVS Carnival Grossed $3,115

Carmel Foundation and the Family Agency each will receive Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services' donations of more than $1300, and the USO, $500, from the $3115 gross proceeds of the MPVS Country Carnival. Mrs. Arthur Dresser, co-chairman with Miss Peg Bowen of the MPVS fund raising affair at Rancho Del Monte last month, announced the amount realized at an MPVS regular meeting at Highlands Inn on October 3. Earlier, MPVS board members voted to divide the sum between the three already selected agencies. Members ratified their recommendation.

Expenses of the Carnival, at the suggestion of Mrs. Boyd Mewborn, Thrift Shop chairman, approved by the board and membership, will be paid out of the September net receipts of the shop, amounting to $896.62.

Prize winners at the Carnival were Mrs. Joan Shirley, Mrs. Freda McGregor, Miss Florence Berry and Mrs. Lucile Capen.

New members introduced at the October 3 MPVS meeting were Mrs. Stuart Blythe, Mrs. George E. Nelson, and Mrs. Fred Wilber of Carmel; Mrs. K. L. Lindhardt, Carmel Valley; and Mrs. Harold Pullen, Monterey.

Between luncheon and the business meeting, Mr. Claude Faw showed pictures of the 1958 and previous MPVS garden tours. Guests of honor at luncheon included some of the owners of gardens on this year's tour, Mrs. F. G. Cruikshank, Mrs. J. F. Gurley and Mr. and Mrs. Avery Tompkins; also Mr. Robert Menand and Mr. Faw.

During the meeting sums of $300 each were granted to help recondition the Carmel Girl Scout House and to purchase basic equipment for La Mesa school band.

At Christmas, Mills College freshman Wendy Millard, Mrs. Owing's daughter, will join Mr. and Mrs. Owings in Italy.

NEW SHOW AT THE GALLERY

Mrs. Jessie MacGregor was chairman of the hanging committee for the new show of oils, watercolors and sculpture which opened at the Carmel Art Association Gallery on Tuesday and remains on display until November 4.

The next meeting of the board of directors of the Association is on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Gallery.

Marian Harriss Wed On Monday

White flowers decorated the home of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Frank on Monday evening when, at 5:00 o'clock, Marian Norris Uhl Harriss was married by Judge Ray Baugh to Cyril Herring of Chicago and Ipswich, England.

The bride and groom, attended by Mr. and Mrs. Frank, stood before the living room fireplace for the ceremony. White chrysanthemums and gladioli mingled with fern decorated the mantel on which stood lighted candelabra.

During the wedding the bride wore a navy blue silk sheath dress with a red rose corsage and navy shoes. Later she added a blue and white checked wool coat to complete her ensemble.

Mrs. Frank, attended her in a silk sheath dress, printed in colors harmonizing with her green orchid corsage.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake surrounded with maiden hair fern and white bouvardia.

Mr. and Mrs. Herring are at present in Carmel but Mr. Herring returns soon to Chicago where he is commercial attache at the British consulate. He plans to arrange for a transfer to California as soon as possible. Meanwhile his bride will stay here. She came to live on the Peninsula two and a half months ago. Formerly, Mrs. Herring made her home in Philadelphia and Washington, D.C. An artist, she was previously a member of the advertising staff of Vogue magazine.

"What Are You Going To Do When It Rains?" Whitaker Asks Council

Councilman May did not see why the city should maintain "private privies." Mayor Chitwood explained that immoralities were sometimes committed in the acacias. Councilman Allen Knight suggested that "judicious trimming with care by the street superintendent" was the answer to both problems.

"May we take action on that?" said the Mayor. "Yes," said the city clerk, "only a minority of the councilmen are in the bushes." Investigating councilmen rejoined the group which unanimously approved the acacia thinning.

Lincoln Street between Fifth and Seventh Avenues was the next business. The lead car, containing the council, whizzed by ex-councilman Francis Whitaker waiting in front of the Seven Arts Building. He was rescued by the city clerk and, in the second car, followed the council to the intersection of Mission and Eighth Streets. On the way City Clerk Rose asked village blacksmith Whitaker if he could repair his broken car handle. "No," said Mr. Whitaker. "Then I'll have to wait until a new one comes from England," was Mr. Rose's sad observation.

While unconcerned boys played on Sunset School's north playfield, the city fathers heard Mr. Whitaker's heated protests against seal coating the two previously surveyed Lincoln Street blocks. He thought a "construction" job using state gas tax funds should replace seal coating at city expense. He explained the city had $30,000 untouched state money in the treasury. Seal coating would come from $5,000 of this year's city tax money. Informed that the state would match the citizen's $5,000 and that using state funds meant "bringing Lincoln up to grade," Mr. Whitaker softened and joined the council in "facing Ocean Avenue."

Councilman Buffington remarked, "blocks rock on Ocean." Soon Ocean Avenue may have to be a major construction job using state money.

"That means abolishing diagonal parking," said Mr. Whitaker. Councilman Norberg reminded everyone that city policy is "to do as little as possible with streets."

At this point Mr. Whitaker offered to deed his property to the city for 99 years, "If everyone else will. Then we can do what we want and put a fence round Carmel."

The council convened, to sustain their policy and seal coat the Lincoln Street blocks, and adjourned.

"What are you going to do when it rains?" Mr. Whitaker asked city officials as they continued their special outdoor meeting.

Cars drew up next in front of Countess Kinnoull's gate at the southern deadend of Torres Street. Everyone strolled through an Italian garden, led by Mr. Buffington who knew where he was going. To the council's amazement they emerged in a woodsy canyon through which runs a storm eroded gully with many pools of stagnant water. "Filled with mosquito larvae before I had them destroyed," remarked Lady Kinnoull when she joined the group.

Lady Kinnoull tramped with the council the length of the gully which starts at Torres Street, traverses her five acres to parallel an undeveloped Eleventh Street and ends at property owned by the Narvaez family.

Meanwhile, Mr. Buffington explained that City Engineer Clayton Neill had seen this situation and said that a 54 inch pipe, laid along Torres, turning around the edge of the Kinnoull property down Eleventh, was a solution, but expensive.

"The water drains from the hospital through town to this canyon," Mr. Buffington added.

Lady Kinnoull showed the water level of last year's flooding on her property, the several feet of erosion which had taken place since she acquired the property, damage to trees when winter rains cause a torrent to pour through the ravine. She also pointed out the threat this water is to the Narvaez land.

At the council meeting last night City Engineer Clayton Neill said that a drainage project should extend from city limits to Ninth Street and would involve around $40,000 which should probably best be handled through an assessment district. He added that the present drainage condition has not caused damage to property, nor does it appear to be a threat. Lady Kinnoull reminded the council of the mosquito problem created by the stagnant pools.

Although the party was chilled by the damp canyon air at dusk, Mayor John Chitwood refused Lady Kinnoull's gracious invitation to "come in and have a sherry" and led his group to the city limits of Carmel on Northern Ocean Avenue.

On one side of the street the council viewed a driveway variance request by James Burns and on the other an encroachment on city property for another driveway. Both requests required removal of trees. Dodging traffic the council crossed and recrossed Ocean to deal with these problems.

On the north side, Mr. Burns, with a sketch of his property, received them. Much deliberation took place. The press viewed Mr. Burns' crops of chard, beets, carrots and lettuce, and his fine succulent garden along the roadway, and the tree in question. It was damaged and spindly. The council, when it convened, gave Mr. Burns permission to remove it and have his driveway variance of an extra six feet above the legal 12 feet allowed for driveway entrances. However, before Mr. Burns could start construction he must meet with the city attorney to draw up an agreement providing that record of the easement, for access over his land to an adjoining house, be filed and never should the city be

CHARMING CARMEL POINT HOME

TWO BEDROOMS—TWO BATHS—Magnificent, large, beamed-ceiling living room. Extremely warm sundeck overlooking the mountains and lagoon. Very modern Hot Point Kitchen. Almost new, just old enough to be landscaped—And landscaped for easy maintenance. This is one of the very few first-class homes we have for sale at a moderate price—$34,000. Exclusive.

NEW, 3 BEDROOMS, 2 BATHS, $23,500

AND A FULL G. E. KITCHEN—The house has a shake roof, oak floors, tiled kitchen and baths, a double garage, and it's in an excellent neighborhood. We can probably work out a low down payment on this if financing is a problem.

IMMEDIATE POSSESSION—3 BEDROOMS, 2 BATHS

THIS HOUSE IS IN MISSION FIELDS—It is cheap, $17,750. The down payment is low, $3,000. The interest is low, 5%. The house is about 2 years old. It has a view of the valley, so, if you're looking for a low-priced house, with a low down payment, and low interest, either for yourself or for investment, this should be it!

namely salaries for two additional firemen, $9,192 the first year; 117 new hydrants with total yearly rental cost of $6,318 and eventually a new fire engine, engine house and crew at the mouth of the Valley. These costs pertain, however, to annexation of the entire surrounding unincorporated community.

"The board of fire underwriters estimates that annexed areas would immediately improve their position in insurance by approximately one-third, and upon installation of standard water mains and hydrants, their insurance rates would rank with Carmel's," the section on fire concludes.

The remainder of the summary report deals with over-all annexation.

The library would need two more employees, cost $10,000 a year.

Streets: salary for additional personnel (five or six men) plus depreciation on two additional trucks, $39,000 per year. This does not include more land for corporation yard or capital outlay for new trucks.

Police: $27,576 per year for six men, plus $2,900 for an additional patrol car.

General government (city clerk's office) an additional $12,900 per year.

There is sufficient breakdown in the individual reports, according to the chairman of the citizens' committee, Chris Neddersen, for the cost of annexing any one area to be calculated.

Total assessed valuation of all the outlying community: $9,174,765. At present city rate of 93 cents, this would yield $88,536 in taxes alone, with considerable revenue to be derived from state apportionments which are based on population.

The council asked City Clerk Rose to write a letter of appreciation to the citizens' annexation study committee, which has been working on the problem for nearly a year.

City . . .

mission would simply schedule to avoid conflicts; actual lease signing would still be in the hands of the council. Knight then brought up the contingency: what if somebody wanted to use the Forest Theater right away and the arts commission wouldn't meet for two weeks? Council should be able to grant permission. So . . . the ordinance was held over for revision. It will now have to go back to first reading, and by second reading time—two council meetings hence—somebody will think of some other delaying device.

If some of the council members do not approve of an arts commission, wouldn't it have been more in the Carmel Council tradition of fair and open dealing with the citizens to have fought it out on those lines, giving reasons, which may be sound ones, rather than follow this run-around method?

To All Volunteer Firemen
of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea:

Inasmuch as the week of October 5 through October 11 is National Fire Prevention Week, the City finds it most appropriate at this time to express its appreciation to its volunteer firemen for their devoted service during the past year. This is a most worthwhile and necessary service, and your City is most grateful for the time and effort you have spent in securing its safety.

Bearing in mind that you are on a volunteer basis and have full-time occupations of your own, it is a remarkable accomplishment, and worthy of special mention that our Fire Department has been reduced from a Class 7 rating to a Class 4 rating by the Board of Underwriters of the State of California. The quality of our Fire Department, which could not be maintained or achieved without your efforts, is a matter of pride to all of us.

With kindest regards,
Sincerely yours,
John S. Chitwood,
Mayor, City of
Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Pruitt Named Pres. Of Sanitary Board

At its organization meeting Monday night, the Carmel Sanitary District Board chose James B. Pruitt to serve as president. Clayton Neill, retiring president though continuing as a board member, asked to serve again as president, begged to be relieved since he had served for two terms.

Chris A. Neddersen, secretary; and Shelburn Robison, attorney, were re-elected.

Other members of the board are Keith Evans, Allen Knight and Willis Shepard.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

It's Fire Prevention Week and Carmel kindergarteners are exploring the Fire House as guests of the Volunteer Fire Department. They aren't allowed to slide down the shiny brass pole but they are permitted to ring the Firehouse bell. Firemen are showing them the Firehouse living quarters, equipment and just what happens when a fireman is awakened in the middle of the night to answer an alarm.

You Are All Invited To Open House At Carmel Youth Center

"What Are You Going To Do When It Rains?" Whitaker Asks Council

responsible for any expense if his driveway entrance were destroyed by future street grading.

Again the council dodged cars across Ocean Avenue to consult with Ralph L. Stean, representing J. Fratessa whose firm will build a house and driveway for Mrs. J. Finley. Councilmen allowed Mrs. Finley an encroachment on city property to build a retaining wall across a small canyon to provide a driveway to her future house. She was permitted to remove or trim several small oaks after some "when is an oak an oak and when a bush," questioning. The council decided the "bushes" could be removed and trimmed "at the discretion of the street superintendent" and that Mrs. Finley must provide insurance for the retaining wall, if necessary, to protect the city against suit for possible personal or property damage.

Night was falling, the air cooling, and the council hurried to Santa Rita and First Streets where the P. G. and E. Company had requested permission to install a power pole to render service to a house being constructed by Building Inspector Floyd Adams.

On arrival they boiled out of their car and proceeded to heat the air. The pole was already in place, without a permit.

They convened, they denied the permit, they referred the matter to their "committee on underground wiring," (Councilmen Buffington and Knight) and adjourned, all in five minutes.

It was dark. The council decided not to go to see about opening Santa Fe between Fourth and Fifth Avenues, a request of Walter Murray. But what about James B. McGrury's petition to remove a dying acacia on Dolores Street?

"Let's knock that off," said the Mayor.

Councilman Buffington parked the council in front of the post office. They walked south till they came to the dying acacia across from the Art Gallery. It was humping up the sidewalk in its death throes.

The council considered, however, all possibilities of retaining it rather than denude of trees that part of Dolores Street. Then they convened to deliver the death warrant, with reservations. Mr. McGrury must replace the acacia with a pine and must plant another tree of his choice on his property frontage. He must also repair, at his expense, the damage to the sidewalk when the tree is removed, and, thirdly he must pay for the tree removal.

Then the council adjourned for the last time that night. Everyone went their separate ways in the dark, thoroughly chilled.

Councilman Norberg, walking north on Dolores suddenly turned, "I'm going the wrong way to get home," he said. No one else made that mistake!
